FETE DE NUIT ON WEDNESDAY GREAT EVENT

All Faculties Will Take Part.

FAMOUS CHARACTERS

The Inimitable Si. and King Cook Will be Present.

Present prospects for the "Fete de Nuit" which will be held on Wednesday evening pretend that it will be one of the most notable events during Centennial week.

The different faculties are labouring night and day in order to make the coming fete a brilliant success.

The "Fete de Nuit" will commence at 7.45 o'clock Wednesday night and the Faculty of Dentistry will be the first to perform. An elaborate programme has been formulated, the crowning event of which will be a most scientific and up-to-date dental extraction. This operation will show some highly important recent improvements which will be of great help to budding dental surgeons.

The Dents will be followed by applied Science. The latter Men are toiling hard and their part in the night's proceedings will be signally important. The verdant fresh have reconciled themselves with the Sophs to the extent that the two will act together that night. Groups of three men will represent the fifty years during which Applied Science has been a faculty.

They will be dressed to the minutest detail in the style of each year. From the "mutton chops" and purple "Prince Albert", of the memorable year 1871 to the misplaced eyebrow and "walk upstairs and save $10" cut of 1921, nothing will be omitted.

The third and fourth years have floats in preparation which will typify important scientific events in the faculty and will also portray some of the more distinguished scientists who have been attached to the Faculty. It is understood that the Mechanical Engineering Department will secure the new Baldwin Locomotive from the Angus Shops.

The Electricals will send what is certain to be the first successful message to the far-off orb of Mars. Preparatory experiments have verified the belief that a reply will be forth-coming which will without doubt astonish the scientific world. The Chemical lads will demonstrate.

PROMISING CHOIR NEXT WEDNESDAY

Mass Meeting in Union—All Invited.

The selection of music for the pageant to take place on the campus on Wednesday afternoon will prove no small treat to the hundreds who will witness the programme now being prepared by the student body. The director of the musical end of the exhibition is deeply interested in his work, and during the short period allowed him to get the choir into trim, has attained a high mark of success.

The attendance of students at these rehearsals has been steadily increasing, and so much so that it has been found advisable to change the meeting place from the R.V.C. to the Ball Room of the Union. The additions to the orchestra have been quite regular, much to the benefit of the choir. There is, however, a great and urgent appeal to all undergraduates to turn out in a body to a mass meeting to take place in the Union at 8 p.m. sharp on Saturday, the 8th. The Campus is a hard place to sing part songs, unless there is a huge body acting as a choir, and especially so if the pieces are not especially known.

Much of the music to be sung is new and not to be learnt in five minutes, which makes the call to McGill people very emphatic indeed.

This plea is to every student, whether his voice be good or bad. The more taking part the more effective the work.

CONFERENCE AT MACDONALD COL.

The prospects for the joint conference of the McGill, R.V.C. and Macdonald College S.C.A. to be held on the college grounds at St. Anne de Bellevue to-morrow are very promising. To date a fairly large number of students have signified their intention to be present. This is the first time any such united conference has been realized, and it has met with encouragement in every quarter.

Any additional persons desiring to take this excursion in are asked to apply at Strathcona Hall for further information.

WATER POLO PRACTICE

The first practice of the McGill Water Polo Club was held at the Central Y.M.C.A. tank on Thursday afternoon at 5.15. About twenty-five fellows turned out, and much promising material was displayed. Vernot, Fisk, Foss, Laidley, and others of last year's team were on hand.

At first each of the new players were paired off with one of the more experienced ones, and sides were picked, and a short game was staged. Then Mr. Vernot called the new men out of the tank to watch a practice game between those of last year's team. This lasted for about twelve minutes, and afterwards the new candidates went into the tank and had a short game.

There will be a practice at the Y tank this afternoon at 5.15, for all those who turned out on Thursday, and any others who would like to try out for the team. The first game will be on the 19th of this month, so those who would like to catch a place on the team will have to hustle.

President Students' Council, McGill University.

Sir:—The Reunion Committee of the McGill Graduates' Society cordially invite the undergraduates of McGill University to be present at a garden party under the auspices of the McGill Women's Union on Wednesday afternoon, October, the twelfth, at 3 o'clock.

It is requested that each student will present grounds ticket at entrance.

Yours very truly,
G. E. McCUAIG.

McGILL PLAY MONTREAL IN RUGGER GAME

McGill Will Present a Strong Team.

CROWD EXPECTED

Some English Internationals on the Montreal Team.

English Rugby enthusiasts will have their first opportunity of "getting a line on" the McGill fifteen, when the latter meets the Montreal English Rugby Team on the Old Campus at 2.30 p.m., to-day. Second teams from each club will clash immediately after the first game. While the brand of football displayed may not be up to mid-season form, closely contested games will no doubt result.

The Montreal English Club has a very fast team. In addition to several old country international players, they have such stars as Lord Congleton and Buchanan from last year's Red and White squad.

The same Clubs played two close games last year. The first was won by the Montreal team by 3 points to nil. The second game was a scoreless draw, so those turning out for the game will undoubtedly witness a keenly contested match.

The following men are asked to turn out at 2 p.m.

Fullback, F. Helmcken.
Three-quarters —McKinnon, Sollo-way, Bradshaw, McDougall.
Five-eighths.— Day.
Forwards.— Lochead, Budden, Trites, Branch, Rankin, Kemp, McLean.
Reserves.— Backs.— Manson, Anglin, Beardsley, —Forwards Robertson, Bears-to.

The following men will report for the second game to start at 3.45 p.m.

Fullback.— Johnston.
Three-quarters.— Anglin, Beardsley, Reid, Gooch.
Five-eighths.— Peacock.
Halves.— C. A. McIntosh, Cooper, Brencley.
Forwards.— Blundell, Cleland, Brown, Mitchell, Whidden, McGourin, Patterson, Smith.

If the above men, McKinnon and any others who have not been physically examined, will report for special examination to Dr. Lamb at 10.30 a.m. Any man who plays without having had his physical examination is automatically suspended from athletics.

MEETING OF OF R.V.C.A.A.

In Common Room Yesterday Afternoon.

The first meeting of the R. V. C. A. A., for this year was held on Wednesday October 6th at 1 o'clock in the common room of the R. V. C. The president, Miss Mary Fry was in the chair. Miss Cartwright addressed the meeting and wished the students all success in the coming year. The constitution was read and approved. Miss D. Russel, the retiring treasurer, read the financial report for the year 1920-21. The following were elected, tennis manager, L. Weibel, assistant tennis manager, M. Leggatt, assistant basketball manager, D. Russel, swimming manager, G. Hibbard, assistant fancy skating manager D. Leed, assistant hockey manager, A. Roy, assistant sports manager, Z. Slack and cheer leader, E. Snyder. The meeting agreed that the girls should attend the McGill Varsity game and should root with the men but not by themselves. The meeting then adjourned.

FOOLED AGAIN.

Recently, an officious Sophomore in Commerce accosted a mild looking chap on the steps of the Arts Building.

"What year are you?" Then came a smile, and in a very meek voice, "First year, Sir!" Then the Soph. talked like a father to him and led him to a supply of caps. Passing the Janitor he hailed him. "Got another one for a cap." The Janitor laughed. "He's a fourth year Arts."

STILL GREEN

The lecturer had been trying to impress on the class of Medical freshmen the necessity of being punctual, as late comers disturb not only the class but also himself.

At this point an unfortunate freshman entered, whereupon the class looked around to see who he was.

"There you are gentlemen, this illustrates what I have just been telling you, at least half of the class looked around and I have been disturbed in my train of thought. I hardly remember where I was at the time."

"I had some difficulty in getting my tie off."

GENERAL READING.
To be more or less shut in from the outside world, while undoubtedly conducive to better development along any one line, cannot fail to make a man narrow and unsympathetic. Thus residential colleges, while putting a high polish upon their graduates, tend to mark them with a peculiar brand that it takes a few years of contact with the outside world, after graduation, to soften in any appreciable degree.

McGill may be favored in having no residences to the extent that her undergraduates are not shut in from the greater currents of life of Montreal; but such outside contacts as students are likely to form casually, in the first year or two in the city, can hardly be said to lead to development in any real sense. Because they are not in touch with the big events and thoughts of this age, except insofar as their professors may assign them readings which are either raced through as an unpleasant duty, or totally ignored, they may become more or less one-profession or one-idea men, and the main purpose of a liberal education is, for them, defeated.

This we believe to be an error. While it would be inappropriate to hazard any hard and fast rules of procedure tending to breadth in college men, it seems altogether reasonable to suppose that a fair amount of general reading, wisely selected and rightly done, would furnish all the elements necessary to broader vision, nobler aim, and sturdier power of discrimination. To this end, we can only offer suggestions.

Giving preference to standard works in this and the past centuries, and making it a point to read a certain amount of GOOD literature every month, taking his reading seriously as part of his life, and looking to it for development along all essential branches, a student can cover an astonishingly varied and stimulating range of subjects in one session.

In addition to standard literature, vocational and general, there are periodicals, also professional and literary, scientific, inspirational, and political that keep one in touch with modern thought and progress.

There is no limit to the range of standard works at the disposal of students in the city. Added to the bound works of noted authors, in this and past centuries, he can have constant access to a bewildering wealth of periodical literature of all classes. For the men interested in purely intellectual subjects, the big reviews of Europe and America are available; for the student who cares to keep in touch with current events we venture to suggest the "excerpt" magazine which draws extracts from all current periodicals and gives in condensed form the activities of the world; for him who wishes to be amused, and at the same time to better his literary education, we might mention the better-class fictional magazines, such as those of both worlds contributed to by men noted in literary circles for serious, careful work. Unfortunately the European magazines, which are undoubtedly vastly superior from a literary point of view, are not as readily accessible as the cheaper, more hastily written periodicals published on this continent; but the very worthy though less perfectly expressed ideas which are to be found in American publications, merit consideration.

A magazine beside your shaving mirror, another by your bed, a good book of general interest always open on the corner of your table, will be the best friends you can have during your course, if you will make use of them intelligently, systematically and with purpose.

Incidentally in reading, it is always well to keep a dated list of all material gone over, with a view to re-reading anything worth while. Any professor at McGill, we feel sure, will be only too glad to advise a student in the selection of his reading; these professors of ours, thinking and reading men, have sympathetic understandings and are eager, how eager you can only suspect when you come into personal contact with them, to help every undergraduate who wants the least bit of advice, encouragement or help. To them we refer any man who cares to adopt our suggestion and to lay the foundation of habits of wide reading while he is still at college.

THE TRACK MEET.
The athletic season will open at McGill this afternoon, when the Freshmen and Sophomores meet in their annual games at the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium. The early fall contests between the two classes have taken place at McGill for many years past and they are continuing with undiminished popularity. The importance of the meet consists in the fact that it gives every newcomer to the University a chance to compete in a recognized meet, whether or not he has already distinguished himself in any branch of athletics. The rivalry between the two classes taking part in the meet has always served to make the meet more interesting, and the competitors will do their utmost to win points for their respective classes.

The success or failure of the meet depends to a great extent on the attendance of spectators, as the competitors will always perform in better style when urged on by the supporters of their classes. Students who go to the games today will spend a very pleasant afternoon as well as help on a student activity worthy of support.

UNDERGRADS OWNING CARS PLEASE HELP NEXT WEEK.

Apply to "Norm." Vineberg at Strathcona Hall.

Have you ever had the experience of arriving in a town and receiving a lukewarm reception? This is one thing that must not happen to any McGill grad, who is coming to visit old McGill during the coming week. The students who have facilities should see to it that our guests suffer no inconvenience in settling down. Many of the alumni who have been away for long periods will not be familiar with the city and the university buildings. In view of this fact an auto service is being organized to take care of them during their stay in Montreal. Students who have cars are asked to volunteer their services to make the men feel at home. It is immaterial for what length of time the car is available. Show the true McGill spirit and fall in line.

When the grads arrive at the hotels, they will be able to secure any desired information at special McGill booths that are to be erected in the different lobbies.

By this means those who are strange to the city will be located and assisted in getting to the registration headquarters on Wednesday morning. It can easily be understood that many cars will be needed to take care of the alumni and to handle the situation successfully every man who owns a car is urged to join the McGill Auto Service.

On the following days the cars will be needed to see that the men reach the different university buildings to take part in the various functions. Therefore, unless every student will volunteer to drive his car for some period of the centenary many alumni, of necessity will be neglected.

It is obvious that these Students will be the men who will meet many interesting grads during the celebration and come into closer contact with them than would otherwise be possible.

The headquarters for this branch of activity will be at the Hall where each car will be allotted special duties. Branch Stations are to be established at the different hotels and university buildings.

"Norm." Vineberg is in charge of this work and will be at Strathcona Hall between 12 and 1 to-day to meet men there and make further arrangements. Should it be impossible for any man to reach the Hall between these hours telephone the McGill Centenary Auto Service, Up. 1086 and leave your name and telephone number.

LECTURE MONDAY VERY IMPORTANT

Rustom Rustomjee Will Address Undergraduate Body.

A rare opportunity will be open to the students of McGill University on Monday, Oct 10th, when they will have the chance to hear Rustom Rustomjee who will speak on the reforms in India. No subject could be of greater interest to keen students of history or to ardent citizens of the British Empire than the questions which today are demanding so much debate and statecraft among the politicians and rulers of the Indian Dominions.

Rustom Rustomjee will describe the economic, social and educational developments of India, and he speaks as one who thoroughly understands the situation. He fully appreciates the splendid administration by Great Britain of the Indian dominions and will greatly help to give us a proper perspective of the situation in India as it is today.

We talk much of fellow feeling between ourselves and other Britishers from distant quarters of the globe, but when we come to look into the question, many of us know less about our eastern brothers and compatriots than we do about our foreign friends. This opportunity on Monday is one which will not be likely to occur again for a long time, nor any other like it. Therefore it is up to every student to make an effort to be there. Honour history students should of course deem it a special privilege to be present.

The lecture will be given at 5 p.m. on Monday, in the R. V. C. assembly Hall.

HARRIERS WILL MEET TO-DAY

A great number of students desiring to turn out with the harriers have been delayed both by lectures and other college duties. Those men who cannot attend the regular runs of the club on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 5 p.m., are asked to run with the track club at any hour convenient during the afternoon. To-day at 10.30 a.m., a special run will start from the Stadium on a three mile route which has been arranged giving plenty of opportunities for new men to take short-cuts.

Men not entering in the Freshmen-Soph meet will take in a hike over as level a course as can be selected.

NEW LECTURERS IN PSYCHOLOGY

Former McGill Students Join Staff in Arts.

During the past few years the place which the study of psychology has held in the department of philosophy, has steadily increased at McGill. The growth of this subject is gaining more importance yearly in every university in nearly every part of the world.

Yesterday the announcement of two new appointments in this branch at McGill was made known to the "Daily." Mr. Howard L. Nichols, B.A., has accepted the position of demonstrator in psychology; Miss Rebecca Contant, B.A., will be a member of the Arts faculty as Reader in the same department.

Mr. Nichols is a Montrealer, having studied at the High School of Montreal and upon his graduation from the High, he entered McGill in 1912.

During the war he left his College course, to enlist with the 9th Field Ambulance, under Colonel Peters; while overseas Mr. Nichols won his commission, and was attached to the 16th Battery, C.E.F. Returning to college, he graduated with Arts '19.

Mr. Nichols is widely known in college circles by his keen interest in student affairs, while as an organizer he is no less popular, having played at different city churches.

Miss Rebecca Contant is also a graduate from the High School of Montreal. She entered McGill upon completion of her course, where she obtained her B.A. degree last spring, taking honours in French and Psychology.

Last summer Miss Contant was offered a professorship with a western University, which she declined, in order to carry out her post-graduate studies at McGill in her M.A. course.

The appearance of so recent a graduate upon the staff is welcomed by the many friends of Miss Contant at McGill.

CROWDED HALL SAW PICTURES LAST EVENING

Films on Venereal Diseases

VIVIDLY SHOWN.

Four Physicians Gave Short Addresses.

The lecture on venereal diseases held yesterday afternoon in the Union Ball Room was very largely attended. The hall being crowded to the doors. Sir Arthur Currie was the chairman and following the showing of motion pictures, short addresses were given by Dr. John A. Hutchison, Dr. A. H. Desloges, Dr. F. S. Patch and Dr. H. M. Little. Speaking prior to the showing of the pictures, Sir Arthur said that a few years ago venereal diseases were spoken of in hushed whispers. He said that we must realize the dangers of the direful disease and fight it to extermination.

The pictures vividly portrayed the social diseases, showing their different stages and the various treatments for combating and curing them. During the past few years and especially since the war, medical profession has made great strides towards fighting venereal diseases.

Dr. Desloges, Director of the Province of Quebec Anti-Venereal Campaign and Dr. Hutchison also of that body spoke of the work being done here. Dr. Lamb and Dr. Patch, represented the Medical Faculty and gave invaluable advice. The cardinal point stressed by all the speakers was that the only solution was absolutely no illegitimate sexual indulgence.

WE KNOW THE FEELING, BRUCE

Dear Les,
Have you ever been near death? If not it's wonderful. I must tell you what it's like.

Everything you think of is light, gay, happy, beautiful (sometimes), and you don't care what has happened before and you don't give a damn what the consequences might be.

The other night I hugged her while we were motoring home from Hunter's Island, and I thought I'd die.

Yours for the death bed.

AT THE THEATRES

THE PRINCESS.

Charles Withers, the clever character comedian, who has just returned from the English Music Halls, where he met with phenomenal success, will be the headline attraction at the Princess Theatre next week in his original character as Cy Sylvians, in the hilarious comedy "For Pity's Sake". The sketch purports to give a realistic representation of an old-fashioned melodramatic performance of the type they used to rave about in the "barnstorming" days, with the added attraction that the space above the proscenium arch is laid bare for the audience to see "how it is done", how the thunder and lightning are "made", how the snowstorms are manufactured, how all the concomitant aids to melodramatic expression are produced. Melodrama of a highly seasoned type provides the basis for the whole act, which is enlivened by comedy of an intensely exhilarated kind.

As the dancing feature of the programme, Edith Clasper and Boys, will be seen in a new offering entitled, "Love Steps". Miss Clasper and her associates have a wide range of numbers in which they introduce some remarkable eccentric dancing, and the offering is beautifully mounted with special scenic effects.

"I Heard—!" is the name of a new vehicle which will be presented by Paul Decker, which was written by Edwin Burke, who has recently come to the fore as a novelist. The dialogue is responsible for unlimited discord and also the cause of much fun.

Artistry in characterization, excellent singing voices, tuneful music and songs of the kind that enrapture an audience are the outstanding feature of a brand new act presented by Charles Olcott and Mary Ann.

Harry Norwood and Alpha Hall, a team of clever comedians, will be seen in a highly diverting offering entitled, "It May Have Happened to You". Bob and Peggy Valentine will present their original conceit which they call, "Vital Statistics", which consists of their own songs and comedy.

The Burns Brothers, clever gymnasts, will be seen in a fast and daring gymnastic offering, while James and Etta Mitchell perform all sorts of hazardous feats on a breakaway ladder.

ARMY EXERCISES REDUCE HEROINE AND RESTORE LOVE.

Ex-soldiers and sailors are sure to find something familiar in the calisthenics practiced by Wanda Hawley in the fat-reducing scenes of "The House That Jazz Built", the new Realart comedy which will open at the New Grand next week.

The star was directed in the "one, two, three, four" movements of the exercises by a man who, during the war, tutored thousands of "rookies" in the intricacies of the military manual. He is C. P. Boyle, late Physical Instructor at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, now a cameraman with the Wanda Hawley troupe.

Thanks to Mr. Boyle's efforts, those exercises which are specially adapted for fat-reducing have been culled from the army plan. Ladies troubled about their weight may well note with care the ideas illustrated by Miss Hawley. The waist-bending and "charging" exercises are particularly beneficial as reducers, it is said.

From all this, however, it must not be inferred that this is a purely physical culture play. Not by any means. It is a brisk comedy which treats of the complications which arise when a young wife loses her ous next week. "The Frisky Mrs Johnson" is the title of the comedy in which Mr. Lackaye will play the part of Jim Morley, which he created in New York with Miss Amelia Bingham in the title role. Both artists won an emphatic success, and both also added to their laurels as being gifted with unusual versatility.

"The Frisky Mrs Johnson" is a comedy of manners. It has a plot, and a most interesting story which at times approaches to sheer drama, pointing a powerful moral. But at the same time it is rich in comedy of a most infectious type. Its dialogue is diverting at all times, and its elements of fun are numerous. It is in the best sense of the word a good entertainment, and it contains nothing but what is wholesome and refreshing, with situations as piquant as they are laughable.

Written by the late Clyde Fitch, it represents that clever dramatist's work as a writer of comedy at his best. It affords Mr. Lackaye an opportunity to demonstrate his ability in a much lighter vein than any role in which he has hitherto appeared in Montreal.

ARMY EXERCISES REDUCE HEROINE AND RESTORE LOVE.

Ex-soldiers and sailors are sure to find something familiar in the calisthenics practiced by Wanda Hawley in the fat-reducing scenes of "The House That Jazz Built", the new Realart comedy which will open at the New Grand next week.

The star was directed in the "one, two, three, four" movements of the exercises by a man who, during the war, tutored thousands of "rookies" in the intricacies of the military manual. He is C. P. Boyle, late Physical Instructor at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, now a cameraman with the Wanda Hawley troupe.

Thanks to Mr. Boyle's efforts, those exercises which are specially adapted for fat-reducing have been culled from the army plan. Ladies troubled about their weight may well note with care the ideas illustrated by Miss Hawley. The waist-bending and "charging" exercises are particularly beneficial as reducers, it is said.

From all this, however, it must not be inferred that this is a purely physical culture play. Not by any means. It is a brisk comedy which treats of the complications which arise when a young wife loses her husband's love through becoming careless.

Playing the leading male role opposite Miss Hawley is Forrest Stanley, who came to the production direct from a tremendous success in Cecil B. de Mille's "Forbidden Fruit". Other players include Gladys George, Helen Dunbar, Helen Lynch, and Clarence Geldart. The production was directed by no less a celebrity than Penrhyn Stanlaws, the distinguished American illustrator, who did his first directorial work in a previous release of Miss Hawley's, "The Outside Woman."

New York's staid theatre audiences received somewhat of a shock recently when "Madonnas and Men," a stupendous photo-dramatic production, was given its premier presentation at the 44th Street Theatre. The capacity audience found itself actually cheering numberless scenes in every reel of the massive production.

Not alone did they show their approval by hand clapping, they actually cheered and it is no wonder, for no production in any way approaching "Madonnas and Men" has ever before been presented to the public.

The remarkable photo-dramatic story of ancient and modern times, "Madonnas and Men," begins an engagement at the New Grand Theatre next week, where it is to be given a special presentation with an elaborate musical setting and other interesting features.

Opening with a few massive scenes of ancient Rome which show the blood lust and utter disregard for womanhood that characterized the nation during the reign of Nero; the story quickly turns to modern times and shows that the desires of the times and respect for womanhood is much the same now as it was when the Christian Martyrs were sacrificed to make a Roman holiday. Portraying the more important roles in the gigantic production will be found Evan Burrows Poutaine, formerly of the "Ziegfeld Follies"; Edmond Lowe, one of the Belasco stars; Anders Randolph, one of the most accomplished actors on the screen; Faure Binney, who has appeared as leading lady in many prominent film productions of late; Raye Dean, one of the most beautiful of stage and screen stars; and that sterling character actor, Gustav Von Seyffritz, in the crowning achievement of his screen career.

FRESH-SOPH MEET TAKES PLACE TO-DAY

Post-Entries for Meet Will be Taken.

STUDENTS ENTER FREE.

Large Crowd of Spectators Expected at Games To-day.

Everything is ready for the Freshman-Sophomore Meet which is scheduled to take place at 1.45 o'clock this afternoon. Both of the years have shown great enthusiasm in having men turn out for the meet and there promises to be some keen competition. All that remains to make the meet a huge success is a large turnout of students to watch the games. No admission charge is made to students.

Many of the men whom will be seen in action will later take part in the Inter-collegiate meet at Kingston when McGill will meet the best athletes from Toronto, Queens, and Royal Military College. Those who turn out to watch the games will get a line on what new material McGill has to show later on in the season. The Freshman-Sophomore meet has always been one of the biggest athletic events at the college and this year promises to be no exception to the general rule.

The meet will be the opening athletic event of any importance for the present season and the enthusiasm of the students in regard to college athletics will be judged largely by the turn out this afternoon. As there is no other athletic event of equal importance taking place in Montreal this afternoon there will in all probability be a large turn out from the sport following public at the games. While a few of the events half a million of entries, the majority of them have a large number and the competition promises to be of the keenest. In order to get every student possible into the games it has been decided to receive entries at the stadium this afternoon. Dr. A. S. Lamb will act as clerk of the course at the meet and will receive any of the late entries. The officials for the meet today will be:

Referee—Prof. E. Brown.
Judges of Track Events
Dr. C. McMillan, R. L. Hamilton, D. W. Johnson, H. Crombie, Dr. F. W. Harvey.

Judges of Field Events.

LAST CHANCE FOR MED. EXAM.

D. P. E. Issues Warnings to First Two Years.

Some of the students have failed to appear for their medical examination this year. All students in the first two years are to be examined while it is especially important that students of all years who intend to compete in any athletics should be examined immediately.

The rules of both the Physical Education department and the Athletic Association are to the effect that no student can take part in any college athletics without first passing the required physical examination examination. Men who neglect to appear for the examination will be prevented from catching place on the teams or competing in any of the track meets at the college.

As it is impossible for the medical director to fix many more periods for the examination of the men owing to the pressure of business during the period of the Centennial celebration next week, the dates on Monday and Tuesday of next week will in all probability be the last chance for the men to appear.

The notice issued by the department of Physical Education last night reads—All students of the first and second years and any students desiring to take part in athletics who have not yet been examined this session may do so on Monday or Tuesday October 10th and 11th between the hours of 12.30 and 1.30 p.m.

RIDDLES.

Why are hot rolls like caterpillars?
Because they make the butterfly.
When is a man thinner than a lath?
When he is a-chiving.
Who was the greatest financier of early times? Noah—he floated his stock when all the world was in liquidation.
Where did Noah strike the first nail in the ark? On the head.
What was Noah busy about in the ark? Preserving pairs.
Where did Noah keep his bees? In the archives.
What never sails before the wind yet backs on every side? A carpet.
When is a man not a man? When he's a horse.

LAW FROSH WEAR NOVEL NECKWEAR

Conscientious Objector to Be Dealt With by Special Trial

Law dropped in line with the rest of the college when the Senior Years held their council-of-war to discuss the timely topic of distinguishing appropriate earmarks for Freshmen Under the Chairmanship of John Long president of the Law Undergrad., the second and third year near-barristers discussed the various possible decorations. The suggestion adopted was a highly-decorative red and white handkerchief. A purchasing-committee was appointed and action was promptly made with the result that before the morning lectures had closed, the chief purchasing agent returned with a goodly supply of costly bannanans.

The verdant newcomers were pursued to linger for a Freshman roll-call whereby the B. A.'s and other exempted ones gave due satisfaction to the chairman of their good standing as upperclassmen. Starting with the letter "A" the youth of the class filed up in alphabetical order to purchase their neckerchief for the sum of half-dollar as is the delight typical of youngsters to see a new spinning top in action, the fresh hastened to don their new neck-wear. Keen to appreciate the advice of those in a position to give it, they at once agreed to wear the "law cravats" for the next week on all occasions, Sunday being excluded. Arrangements have been made with the Court House officials whereby the greiffiers and porters will at once recognize the Law Freshmen by their distinctive neckwear and will show them fatherly tenderness and consideration in their introduction to Court House routine.

Only one conscientious objector persisted in refusing to accept the counsels of his elders. The "Powers that Be" have ordered that he come up for trial in the immediate future before the Special Court that has been set up to deal with objectors and offenders. He was ordered to avail himself of counsel without delay. As an appearance was filed with President Long in the afternoon, the case will evidently be contested. The trial will be a matter of considerable interest in the Faculty and should the defendant not establish a satisfactory case, it is rumored that he will be made an example of the strike fear into all future offenders. When questioned by the "Daily", counsel for the defence did not commit himself, but stated that the facts of the case go to augur that the Court will be forced to dismiss the case.

PORTUGUESE AND LATIN IN THE AZORES.

On all occasions the stranger is welcomed to the humble home of the Azorean peasant with dignity and decorum, and at the same time with a courtesy, cordiality, and frank hospitality, which are the trust politeness.

The language of the people is Portuguese. It is interesting to trace the kinship between the tongues of South-western Europe. The Romans invaded and vanquished the language, as well as the territory, of their neighbors so thoroughly, that a bastard Latin is the speech of all French, Italian, Spanish, and Portuguese possessions to-day. All the Portuguese nouns are Latin ablatives; and one may usually guess at the adjective by substituting an r for an l in the Latin (the exchange of one liquid for another being apparently no robbery)—for instance, branca for blanca; obligato for obligato, etc. They chatter like magpies; and when we catch a Latin word, we seize and fling it back to them. They are mystified; then they shout with delight, the "senhora sabe Portuguese." We don't let them know we don't sabe for awhile. Then, regardless of moods and tenses, and other grammatical trifles, we patch up a mongrel sentence out of our little Latin, Italian, and French. In nine cases out of ten, they understand and answer, so that we get the substance of what they say. Thus, by sheer audacity we really get a good deal out of the language—"A Summer in the Azores," C. Alice Baker.

There was a student in the "U" I know him and so did you, He seemed always to get through. How? Why d— it, cram it. He grew up and graduated. All his friends they were elated, But all fear he's overated. Who? Why d— it, cram it. Cram it got a swell position, Found he couldn't do addition, Boss consigned him to perdition, "Me' Yes d— it, Cram it." Now he has no fixed vocation, He's the bane of his relations, Shunned by men in every station, Who? Why d— it, cram it. Here's the moral of this ditty, If you're guilty, more's the pity, 'Snot too late, if you are gritty, If nat! d— it, cram it.

TRACK TRIALS FOR THE MEET

Men of Upper Years Try Out This Morning.

The track trials for the men of the upper years ineligible for the Freshman-Sophomore meet were postponed from yesterday, until 10.30 o'clock this morning. They were to have taken place yesterday afternoon, but owing to the weather they could not be held.

The coach will be able to see from the Freshman-Sophomore meet what the new material is like. The test this morning will serve to show what may be expected from the rest of the candidates. As the finishing touches to the training of those men who are slated for the team will commence next week, a good comparison of those who are out to make place is necessary immediately. The trials will also be a good practice.

Few colleges have behind them the glorious record of achievements in nearly every phase of life held by our Alma Mater. Her history, long and brilliant as it has been, is to be commemorated by the pageant to be held on the afternoon of Wednesday, October 12.

This will be one of the most important events of the celebration since it will serve as a starting point for the centenary. Indeed many and varied are the events, to be represented. The early days of the Montreal Medical School, the ancestor of our present Medical Faculty, and the trials and tribulations of the early days present a varied field. Then in the early fifties the advent of Sir William Dawson as principal marks the first great milestone in McGill's progress. The meagre condition of McGill as he found it with its condition where he left it forms a splendid epoch in our history. How his work was eagerly taken up by the late Sir William Peterson until the University emerged as it stands to-day is well known to many of the grads. The increased interest in intercollegiate athletics, our triumphs on the gridiron, the admission of several new faculties, and our glorious part in the Great War form a wide field.

It is therefore imperative that every McGill student who could in any way contribute to its success be present this morning. The following are specially requested to turn out:

Malkin,
Winslow,
Brewer,
Kennedy,
Gaslin,
Watson,
Smith,
A. Quackenbush,
A. Aubry,
Wilson,

ANNIVERSARY OF DANTE.

The University of Toronto has agreed to take charge of a Dante celebration, to be held in the Hart House Theatre, on the evening of Nov. 26, Professor Shaw of the department of Italian at Varsity, stated when interviewed this morning.

Dante, combined politician, philologist, philosopher and literary genius, was born in Florence, Italy, in 1265. He died on Sept. 14, 1321. His greatest work is his divine comedy.

So far, no celebration has been conducted in Toronto. The local Italians held a patriotic celebration on Sept. 20, but this did not concern the great scholar. While it was not possible for the university to conduct a memorial on the actual anniversary, the authorities have done the next best thing, and picked the date in question.

While the department of Italian, under Professor Shaw, has chief interest in arrangements, a committee representative of the English and Philosophy branches is also interested. Sir Robert Falconer, president of the university, is taking a keen interest in the project.

Professor Grandgent, of Harvard University, who is rated as the foremost Dante scholar on the continent has already promised to address the meeting. The professor is the editor of Dante's comedy, which is known as the "American Dante." The Toronto Arts and Letters Club will be invited, as well as any others who are interested in the subject. The Dante Alighieri society, an Italian patriotic association here, is combining with the University committee, and on this account, part of the memorial ceremony will be in Italian.

The speeches will be of a strictly academic nature, however. "Many of these celebrations have become perverted into a patriotic hurrah," Professor Shaw said. This side will be only subsidiary on Nov. 26.

In order that all who desire to be present will be accommodated, tickets will be issued. Hart House theatre seats only 500, thus it is advisable to make arrangements without delay.

A TIMELY WARNING

Ladies and gentlemen: I meet you for the first time. I am glad to see such a bright and intelligent class before me (Visible signs of trying to look so on the part of the class). Yes, e-r-r on the whole, e-r-r, so far, you look alright, e-r-r. Some of you, however, may find Biology interesting and may attend only because you are compelled to do so. Such of you do as you please, provided you do not disturb the rest of us. In other words, ladies and gentlemen, you may sleep, but you must not snore!!

What animal falls from the sky? Why, the rain, dear (reindeer). Under what tree does a rabbit sit when it rains? Under a wet tree.

A knight was travelling through England and Scotland and he got a pain. When and where did he have it? In the middle of the knight.

What is it that has a mouth it never eats with, a bank it never goes to, a bed it never sleeps on, and a basin it never washes in? A river.

FETE DE NUIT ON WED. GREAT EVENT

The Civil Engineers-to-be have in course of preparation an exact reproduction of the Quebec Bridge, and the two tragic collapses will be shown and fully explained. The Architects will parade a modern Venus de Milo. A unique experiment in oil-drilling will be carried out by the Miners, and those taking Metallurgy will make a pour.

It is believed that the serious illness of St Whiffletree will result in his early demise, and the obsequies have been planned in detail by Law, the third Faculty in the "Fete de Nuit."

Arts and Commerce will co-operate in depicting a Faculty meeting, for which Arts is famous. The plans for this event are to a large extent veiled in secrecy, and will no doubt be most surprising as well as interesting.

His Most Gracious Majesty King Cook III will be arrayed in his regal robes, leading the delegation of Medicos. The latter will put on a most elaborate extravaganza, the details of which have not yet been announced.

The monster parade will commence at 10 o'clock and will proceed along Sherbrooke St. West to Guy St., thence going down to St-Catherine, east to McGill College and back to the campus.

INDOOR BASEBALL OUT-DOORS.

In connection with the above mentioned league it is absolutely imperative that all first and second years desirous of entering, elect their representatives at once. As this congenial form of exercise can be taken in lieu of the regular gymnasium, the league provides an opportunity for those baseball enthusiasts who dread the indoor work to at the same time derive the same beneficial results.

A general meeting of all class representatives will take place in the near future and any class not represented at the meeting will not be able to join. Any other classes outside the first two years can enter the league although compulsory gymnasium does not apply to them. It is up to those men who are desirous of catching a place on the college teams entered in the City and District Indoor Baseball League to get after their presidents to elect their representatives for the two teams which will represent McGill in the City League this year will mainly be chosen from those turning out now.

All games will be played, weather permitting, on the East Campus adjacent to the Physics building, starting on or about October 17th.

Get on your toes and be present in strength when the general meeting is called and help to make this branch of sport as successful this year as it was last year, when the two McGill teams finished on top.
